LS DEBATES ON ELECTORAL REFORMS

Biggest anti-national act is 'vote chori': Rahul Gandhi

Leader of Opposition Rahul Gandhi accused BJP of "vote chori," alleging Election Commission capture and unprecedented immunity for the commissioner

NEW DELHI

On Tuesday, December 9, Lok Sabha Leader of Opposition Rahul Gandhi strongly criticised the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), calling "vote chori" (vote theft) the "biggest anti-national act" and alleging that the party had effectively captured the Election Commission (EC). Gandhi questioned why Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Union Home Minister Amit Shah amended the law to grant what he described as a "gift of immunity" to the election commissioner, a move unprecedented in India's history.

During a debate on electoral reforms, he asserted that the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) sought to control every institution in the country, including the EC, which triggered protests from the treasury benches. Gandhi further stated that vote theft by the BJP was eroding the nation's democratic fabric and undermining the principles of modern India.

He challenged the government on its law changes regarding CCTV and election data, arguing that the EC's directive to destroy recordings after 45 days was less about protecting data and more about facilitating election manipulation. Gandhi cited irregularities in the 2024 Haryana assembly elections, including a Brazilian model's photo appearing multiple times in the electoral rolls, as evidence of alleged fraud. He also pointed out that the EC had not responded to queries regarding the Haryana, Maharashtra, and Karnataka elections, questioning its impartiality and transparency in managing the electoral process.

- Minister Arjun Ram Meghwal said that the implementation of SIR in India is not new, while it has occurred before, it has not been practiced in recent decades. He emphasized that equality is the core principle of SIR.
- Lok Sabha MP Nishikant Dubey claimed Congress has historically compromised ethics for Muslim votes, a practice he says dates back to Nehru's era.
- Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha adjourned, will resume at 11 a.m. today (December 10, 2025.)

EC is implementing NRC, not SIR: Congress MP Jothimani

Congress MP from Tamil Nadu S. Jothimani, speaking on electoral reforms in Lok Sabha says the government is implementing NRC and not SIR. "The government wants to disenfranchise hundreds of voters through this exercise," Ms. Jothimani says.

RS continues discussion on Vande Mataram

NEW DELHI: The division of 'Vande Mataram' song for "politics of appeasement" led to the partition of India, Home Minister Amit Shah said in the Rajya Sabha on Tuesday, as he slammed the Opposition for linking the debate on 150 years of the national song with the upcoming West Bengal elections. Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge countered accusing BJP leaders, including Prime Minister Narendra Modi, of insulting Jawaharlal Nehru, as he said the decision to use only the first two stanzas of 'Vande Mataram' as the national song was collectively taken by leaders like Mahatma Gandhi and Rabindranath Tagore. As the ruling BJP accused the Congress of 'dividing' the song written by Bankim Chandra Chattopadhyay, the Leader of Opposition in the Rajya Sabha Kharge said that Congress leaders have always been chanting 'Vande Mataram'.

BJP leaders, farmers detained during march to Suvarna Soudha

BELAGAVI

On Tuesday, several protesters, including Karnataka BJP president B.Y. Vijayendra, were detained by police while marching with a large group of farmers toward the Suvarna Vidhana Soudha in Belagavi. The protest aimed to highlight the Congress government's alleged "anti-farmer policies."

The march was led by Vijayendra, along with Leader of the Opposition in the Legislative Assembly R. Ashoka, Leader of the Opposition in the Legislative Council Chalavadi Narayanaswamy, and several MLAs, MLCs, and senior party leaders. The demonstration began at Malini City Grounds and proceeded toward the legislature amid a heavy police presence. Protesters raised slogans accusing the government of ignoring farmers' problems and failing to address key agricultural issues.

Vijayendra criticized internal conflicts within the ruling Congress, claiming policy paralysis has left farmers' concerns unattended. He accused Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister D.K. Shivakumar of prioritizing political ambitions over governance, with the Cabinet often in Delhi rather than addressing local agricultural crises. Vijayendra highlighted failures in supporting sugarcane and maize farmers, noting inadequate compensation, delays in opening procurement centers, and forcing farmers to sell produce at distress prices.

Cong leaders slam BJP over farmer protests

BJP should protest against Central govt: DCM

Belagavi

Deputy CM D.K. Shivakumar slammed BJP, saying it should protest against the Modi government instead of Karnataka. "Centre has denied funds for Mahadayi, Mekedatu, Upper Bhadra and Krishna projects, besides hurting farmers on sugarcane and maize," he said, adding BJP leaders have "no shame."

HK Patil calls BJP protests as 'unreasonable'

Belagavi

Minister HK Patil criticised the BJP's farmer protest, saying the central government caused issues by fixing MRP, FRP, and sugar rates. Speaking in Belagavi, he called the protest "immoral and unreasonable" and affirmed that the state government, led by the CM, fully supports farmers and will seek justice.

I am the real Oppn leader: Yatnal

Belagavi: BJP MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal on Tuesday insisted he is "the genuine Opposition leader" in the Assembly. The strong statement came after his protest over being moved from his usual seat — a change he said was unfair to senior legislators. During the session, Congress MLA Ranganath accused BJP of treating Yatnal like an orphan and pledged party solidarity. In response, the Assembly Speaker explained that seat assignments depend on party strength in government — "when in power you're senior, when out you're junior" — a system affected Yatnal's seating. Yatnal rejected this, declaring he is not a political opportunist. He emphasized he didn't go to the Chief Minister's residence seeking favour, and challenged that if anyone is truly the Opposition leader, it's him — not R. Ashoka.

LOC issued against two more owners of Goa nightclub

PANAJI

Goa Police have issued a Look Out Circular (LOC) against two more owners of the fire-hit nightclub—Ajay Gupta and Surinder Kumar Khosla—following Saturday's tragedy that claimed 25 lives. At a press briefing in Anjuna, Deputy Inspector General of Police Varsha Sharma confirmed that Gupta and Khosla, the latter being a British national, are now under the LOC. She added that police are coordinating with Interpol to bring back the Luthra brothers, who reportedly left for Phuket soon after the incident.

Sharma said efforts to trace the Luthras began immediately after the fire, though they were not in Goa at the time. She also stated that two Goa government officials—the former Director of Panchayat, Siddhi Halarnkar, and former Goa State Pollution Control Board Member Secretary, Shamila Monteiro—have been called to join the probe.

SUPREME COURT BACKS BLOS

SC warns EC to protect BLOs, flags threats could lead to 'anarchy'

NEW DELHI

On Tuesday, the Supreme Court expressed serious concern over threats faced by Booth Level Officers (BLOs) and other officials engaged in the Special Intensive Revision (SIR 2.0) of electoral rolls in West Bengal and other states. A bench comprising Chief Justice of India Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi warned the Election Commission (EC) that failing to address these threats could lead to "anarchy."

The court highlighted reports of BLOs being overburdened, exhausted, and in some cases driven to extreme distress. Justice Bagchi noted that petitioners had alleged that state election commission offices were being gheraoed and that officials faced harassment and intimidation during the SIR process. Senior advocate Rakesh Dwivedi, appearing for the EC, informed the bench that state governments are constitutionally obliged to provide protection and cooperation, and if they fail, the EC could deploy local police under deputation or, if necessary, central forces. Justice Bagchi clarified that the EC cannot assume control over the police until the official election process begins.

Petitioners, represented by senior advocate V Giri, sought directions for state police deployment under EC supervision and requested central armed forces be deployed until the SIR process is completed, citing a spate of violence against BLOs in West Bengal. However, the bench pointed out that apart from a single First Information Report (FIR), there was limited verified evidence of obstruction, and much of the material relied upon was based on historical incidents or media reports.

The Supreme Court urged the EC to bring to its notice any specific instances of lack of cooperation or threats to BLOs so that appropriate action could be taken, emphasizing the need to ensure that the SIR process proceeds smoothly without disruptions.

INSIGHTS TO NOTE

- Court cannot treat West Bengal situation as uniquely requiring intervention.
- BLOs face pressure due to house visits and enumeration duties.
- EC has written to states seeking protection for BLOs.
- Bench issued notice, seeking responses on threats across states.

Site Allotment Delay by BDA Causes Loan Problems

BENGALURU

Due to decades of delay, the Bengaluru Development Authority (BDA) has plunged the residents of the ambitious Nadaprabhu Kempegowda Layout (NPKL) project into a serious financial crisis. Due to the non-handover of the plots on time, the residents are facing a difficult situation due to their age to get loans from banks for house construction. Several residents have expressed their grievances to BDA Commissioner Major Manivannan via Twitter.

Thousands of plot owners, who were in their forties when the plots were allotted, were unable to build houses as the BDA took nearly nine years to complete the infrastructure development. Generally, nationalized banks refuse to provide loans to those above the age of 55 for housing construction. As a result, many senior plot owners are now unable to get loans. Many plot owners are now close to retirement age. They are already retired. Even though the interest rates on loans are low, getting bank loans is a big challenge for these senior citizens. Retirees are inevitably forced to take loans from NBFCs at high interest rates. Banks are not only citing age but also legal complications of the layout as reasons for denying loans. Major banks, including HDFC, have pointed out that the banks have listed Kempegowda Layout as a non-RERA compliant and incomplete layout. In addition, bank officials have also mentioned that land acquisition issues are still pending in the layout.

> BDA Commissioner Major Manivannan, who has acknowledged this serious problem, has instructed his team to discuss this with the banks and find a solution. There has also been a demand that the BDA should immediately abolish the penalty for plot owners who are unable to get loans.

The Greater Bengaluru Development Authority has now planned the Kempegowda Layout in 4040 acres, but despite the passage of decades, development work has been completed in only 2,800 acres. The land acquisition process for about 1,200 acres is still pending. After the Arkavati Layout, the NPKL also remains incomplete, which is a cause for concern for the site owners.

Indigo effect: Rates of five-star hotels in city increase by 40-60 percent

BENGALURU

Due to the disruption to Indigo flights, the rates of five-star hotels in Bengaluru have increased by 40 to 60 percent.

For the past one week, IndiGo flights have been cancelled and traffic has been disrupted across the country. It is also doubtful that IndiGo flights will return to normal for some time. Therefore, tourists waiting for alternative flights are staying in local hotels, and demand for star hotels has increased.

Almost all five-star hotels have increased their daily rates by 40 to 60 percent in the last four to five days. Hotels that used to charge Rs 10,000-15,000 per day have now increased their rates to Rs 40,000 to Rs 50,000. Thus, the hike in rates has hit tourists hard.

Speaking on this, Bengaluru Hotel Owners' Association President PC Rao said, it is normal for prices to increase when demand increases. It increases during New Year and cricket match days. Now, due to the IndiGo flight problem, tourists are flocking to hotels. But this time, the tourist business has been hit hard. So, the demand may remain the same until this problem is resolved. There will be only a small change in room rents.

Kittur Karnataka demands ten-thousand crore grant

Farmers demand better compensation for crop losses, more procurement centers, and support after low maize and sugarcane market prices

HUBBALLI

The people of Kittur Karnataka are urging the state government to release a special grant of Rs 10,000 crore during the ongoing Winter Session. This demand comes after heavy rains caused severe damage to crops and homes in the Kittur and Kalyana Karnataka regions. Many farmers and residents have yet to receive full compensation for their losses.

Under the previous government led by B.S. Yediyurappa, Rs 5 lakh was promised to families who lost their homes, but crop losses remain largely uncompensated.

Farmers are pressing for better support, especially for maize and sugarcane crops. While the maize harvest has been good, market prices have dropped, creating financial distress. Farmers are demanding the government open more procurement centres across the state to stabilize prices.

Irrigation projects remain a critical concern. Plans to raise the Alamatti Dam and build a parallel dam on the Tungabhadra have been discussed for years, but no progress has been made. Rs 200 crore has been allocated for flood control along the Bennehalla river, yet work has not begun. Farmers are calling on local representatives to press the government to start the second phase of these projects without delay. Development issues in Hubballi-Dharwad also remain pressing. Roads remain unpaved, flyover construction continues slowly, and water and irrigation systems need improvement.

Residents hope these issues are addressed in the Winter Session, alongside demands for a separate state, which the government has been urged to consider carefully.

Officials and local leaders say that timely allocation of funds and faster project implementation could ease agrarian distress, improve urban infrastructure, and stabilize livelihoods for thousands of people in Kittur Karnataka. With the Winter Session underway, the state government is under growing pressure to act on these long-standing demands.

Protests intensify inside and outside Suvarna Soudha

BELAGAVI

The winter session entered its second day with the government facing strong pressure—not only inside the Assembly but also outside the Suvarna Soudha, where eight different organizations staged protests. As opposition leaders shouted slogans indoors, the voices of protesters echoed outside, creating a tense atmosphere for the government. Teachers' groups were among the first to gather. Members of the Karnataka State Secondary School Teachers' Association, Karnataka State High School Teachers' Association, and High School Hindi Teachers' Association demanded better protection of teachers' rights and improvements in the education system. Sanskrit Bharati Karnataka and Desiya Bhasha Hitrakshana Vaksha demanded that the state adopt a trilingual policy in place of the current bilingual approach in schools. They argued that this would strengthen national languages and cultural understanding. Farmers' groups also participated actively. The Karnataka State Farmers' Association and Hasiru Sene demanded scientific and legal price fixing for agricultural crops, a complete loan waiver, and withdrawal of the Agriculture Act. Farmers from Vijayapura urged the government to speed up pending irrigation projects, emphasizing that agriculture cannot survive without proper water supply. Another farmers' group demanded that the state officially declare December 23 as Farmers' Day. Contract employees joined the protest with strong emotions. Workers who have been serving various government departments through internal and external contracts for nearly 20 years opposed the government's decision to lay off contract staff. They demanded that existing contract workers be made permanent and that the move to remove them be withdrawn immediately.

Teachers' groups, including Karnataka State Secondary, High School, and Hindi Teachers' Associations, demanded stronger protection of teachers' rights and significant improvements in the state's education system.

The State Gram Panchayat Members' Maha Sangha protested seeking the release of the fifteenth financial package and early announcement of Gram Panchayat elections. Agriculture Minister Chaluvaraya Swamy visited the protest site, spoke directly with the groups, walked from tent to tent, and assured that their demands would be considered. With eight protests taking place on a single day, the government now faces pressure from all sides. As the winter session continues, the response to these demands remains to be seen.

Hattiholi called Yathindra Siddaramaiah's remarks unnecessary, noting senior leaders remain committed to respecting the high command's final decision

DKS favored for CM post: MLC

BELAGAVI

In Belagavi, MLC Chennaraj Hattiholi expressed strong support for D.K. Shivakumar to become Karnataka's next Chief Minister. Speaking to the media, Hattiholi said, "It is the wish of the people of Karnataka that Shivakumar should become the chief minister, and I believe he will get a chance in the coming days."

Hattiholi emphasized that both Shivakumar and senior party leader Siddaramaiah remain committed to the high command's decision regarding the chief ministerial post. "We will abide by any decision taken by the high command," he said, stressing the importance of following party guidelines.

Highlighting Shivakumar's loyalty and dedication, Hattiholi said the party president is ready to take up any responsibility entrusted to him. "Shivakumar has stated that he is prepared to serve as CM anywhere, but it is the people's wish across the state that he leads," Hattiholi added.

Responding to recent remarks by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's son and MLA Yathindra Siddaramaiah, Hattiholi described them as unnecessary. He explained that such statements were unwarranted since both senior leaders have already committed to respecting the high command's final decision. As speculation grows over Karnataka's political leadership, Hattiholi's remarks underline the support within the party for Shivakumar, while reaffirming loyalty to the party's top decision-making body. The coming days are expected to bring clarity on who will assume the state's top post.

Leaders Back Dharwad Job Seekers' Protest

DHARWAD

Several organizations and leaders have expressed their support for the upcoming protest in Dharwad demanding the filling of vacant posts in central and state government departments. Janadolan Mahagathbandhan, Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sena, Gulbarga University B.Ed Students Struggle Committee, and the All India Democratic Youth Organisation will join the dharna on December 10 (today), said Janadolan Mahagathbandhan state convener Ugra Narasimha Gowda at a press conference on Tuesday.

Gowda accused the government of trying to suppress the students' agitation, which seeks the fulfillment of their constitutional rights and legitimate demands. He claimed that authorities are using police actions to restrict the protesters' rights. Farmer leader Shankar Ambali also criticized the government's approach, saying that the strategy aims to intimidate the participants. "We are ready to support the students. It is not right for the police to behave like the British," Ambali said.

Several other farmer leaders, including Sharanappa Udbal and Jagannath SH, joined the press meet to show their solidarity with the students. They emphasized that peaceful protests are a democratic right and pledged to support the movement until the demands are addressed.

The protest is expected to draw participants from different districts as groups push for speedy recruitment in government positions. Organizers hope the demonstration will urge authorities to respect the students' rights and act on their longstanding demands.

MP Prabha Mallikarjun seeks details on unused CSR funds

Dr. Mallikarjun sought detailed year-wise data on unspent CSR funds, expenditures, transfers, supported schemes, state distributions, and reports

DAVANAGERE

MP Dr. Prabha Mallikarjun has sought detailed information from the Ministry of Corporate Affairs about unutilised Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) funds in the country. The Ministry has responded to his queries, clarifying how unspent CSR money is managed and distributed.

Dr. Mallikarjun asked about the steps taken by the government to ensure fair use of CSR funds, including unspent amounts from 2022, 2023, and 2024. He requested year-wise details of unutilised funds, how much was transferred to the Unspent CSR Account, total CSR expenditure since 2020, government schemes supported through CSR contributions, and the state-wise distribution of funds.

In response, the Ministry said that under the Companies Act, 2013, unspent CSR amounts from ongoing projects must be transferred to the Unspent CSR Account within 30 days. These funds should be used within three years. If they remain unspent after three years, the money must be moved to the Schedule VII Fund within 30 days. For non-ongoing projects, the CSR amount must be transferred to the Schedule VII Fund within six months.

Madhu G. Madegowda reported black-headed worm infestations across multiple Karnataka districts, warned of declining coconut yields, and urged immediate government action before the survey's completion.

The Ministry added that planning, implementing, and evaluating CSR projects is the responsibility of the CSR Committee. "The government does not direct CSR spending for any constituency or region," the Ministry noted.

Dr. Mallikarjun was also informed that all CSR-related information submitted to MCA21 is publicly accessible at www.csr.gov.in, allowing citizens to track projects and fund usage.

The MP's request highlights growing concerns about accountability and transparency in the use of CSR funds, ensuring that money meant for social development benefits communities across the country. Officials said the government encourages responsible CSR practices but leaves the details of execution and distribution to corporate committees.

Survey on black-headed worm to resume

BELAGAVI

Mines, Earth Sciences, and Horticulture Minister S. S. Mallikarjuna has announced that the survey of black-headed worms affecting coconut crops will resume from January and efforts will be made to complete it quickly. The survey aims to assess damage and find solutions to protect farmers' yields.

Legislative Council member Madhu G. Madegowda pointed out that black-headed worms have been reported in districts including Mysore, Tumkur, Hassan, Mandya, Bangalore South, Chikkamagaluru, Chitradurga, Chamarajanagar, and Davangere. He expressed concern over falling coconut production and requested urgent measures even before the survey concludes.

Minister Mallikarjuna explained that the scientific survey, originally planned for completion by July 2025, was delayed due to heavy rains and other challenges. Conducting the survey requires funding, and an estimated Rs. 1.94 crore has been proposed to the Finance Department for approval.

The minister added that damage caused by black-headed worms and whiteflies is likely to increase from January to May due to higher temperatures. Surveyors have been assigned across affected areas, and each taluk will receive an honorarium of Rs. 10. It is estimated that black-headed worms have affected 62,044 hectares, while whiteflies have damaged 3,24,259 hectares.

Mallikarjuna also noted that following the Chief Minister's suggestion and local representatives' requests.

Koppal officials urge clean fuel, clean air

KOPPAL

Koppal Regional Transport Officer Prabhuswamy Hiremath has urged people to keep their vehicles in good condition and use clean, unadulterated fuel to help reduce air pollution. He spoke at the closing ceremony of the Air Pollution Control Awareness Month held at the Regional Transport Office.

Hiremath said that the smoke released from vehicles is a major cause of air pollution. Harmful gases like carbon monoxide, carbon dioxide, hydrocarbons, nitrogen oxides, sulfur dioxide and tiny dust particles can seriously affect human health. He added that vehicles emitting heavy smoke should not be used and people should choose environment-friendly options whenever possible.

He explained that regular vehicle maintenance is important to control emissions. Vehicles should be checked every six months, and parts like air filters and spark plugs must be kept clean. He also warned against using adulterated fuel or low-quality engine oil, as they can damage engines and increase pollution.

Throughout November, the Regional Transport Department organized several programs across Koppal to spread awareness about air pollution. Students took part in essay and painting contests to learn more about protecting the environment.

Amar from the Air Pollution Control Board spoke about different kinds of pollution, their harmful effects, and ways to reduce them. Umesh Itagi from the School Education and Literacy Department also shared methods to prevent air pollution.

Children from Shantiniketan Public School who won the competitions were honored at the event. Senior officials, staff members and the public were present during the program.

Belagavi marchers will wear black and carry Chennamma's flag, vowing yearly protests until their community gains 2A reservation

Lingayats plan protest on reservation delay

HAVERI

The Panchamasali Lingayat community has announced that December 10 (today) will be observed as the "Day of Atrocities Against Lingayats." Basavajaya Mrityunjaya Sri of Kudalasangama Panchamasali Peeth said the day marks government inaction and alleged mistreatment of their community.

A silent march is planned in Belagavi, starting at 10 am from Gandhi Bhavan. Participants will tie black cloth on their left arm and mouth while carrying Chennamma's flag. "Just like the farmers of Nargund celebrate the Nargund Rebellion, we will remember this day every year until our community receives 2A reservation," said Mrityunjaya Sri.

He highlighted the ongoing struggle of Panchamasalis, Gowda Lingayats, Malegoudas, and Dhiksha Lingayats across Karnataka. For the past five years, they have demanded education and employment rights as per the constitution. "Our fight is fair and not against any party or leader," he added.

The community has a history of protests, including hunger strikes and massive rallies in Bengaluru. "When the Suvarna Soudha opened, we were the first to raise our demands. Ministers met us and a subcommittee was formed, but promises remain unfulfilled," Mrityunjaya Sri said.

He alleged that the latest government ignored their requests, forcing Panchamasalis to protest outside Suvarna Soudha on December 10, 2024. During the protest, police allegedly carried out violent actions without warning, leaving many injured. "Thousands lost limbs, hundreds are fighting for life. This is the first such atrocity after independence," he said.

Prasannanandpuri of Rajanahalli Valmiki Peetha also expressed the community's desire to see Dalit leadership in the state, emphasizing representation for 151 backward communities. He mentioned hopes for political opportunities for leaders like Satish Jarkiholi and stressed that action against ongoing injustices must be taken soon.

The Panchamasali community vows to continue observing the day annually, demanding justice and reservation until their constitutional rights are fully realized.

Kundgol Taluk Panchayat meetings lose focus

KUNDGOL

The Taluk Panchayat in Kundgol recently held both its general body meeting and the KDP meeting on the same platform, but the sessions failed to focus on development work, officials said. The meetings were conducted under the leadership of Administrator Shivaputrappa H and Taluk Panchayat Executive Officer Jagadish Kammar, with officials from 19 departments present.

The general body meeting started as planned, but before departmental reports could be reviewed, a banner announcing the KDP meeting was displayed, diverting attention. The sessions quickly became general discussions, with little progress reported on the development work expected from the departments.

Notably, KRIDL officials missed the general body meeting but were present at the KDP meeting. The KDP meeting, which is supposed to be held once every three months, also lost significance as KDP MLA MR Patil was absent due to the winter session. Administrators were reportedly recovering from illness, which may have affected proceedings.

D K Shivakumar calls for liberal excise laws

DCM Shivakumar urges liberal excise laws, highlights unofficial home delivery of liquor via quick-commerce platforms

BELAGAVI

Karnataka Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Tuesday highlighted that liquor is being delivered "unofficially" to homes via quick commerce platforms, urging the state government to adopt more liberal excise laws. Speaking during a debate in the state assembly, Shivakumar noted that platforms such as Amazon and Swiggy have simplified home delivery for essential goods like medicines and groceries, and questioned why liquor could not similarly reach consumers through official channels. He stressed that while liquor is available through informal means, it is not properly regulated, and the practice is widespread in several areas.

Shivakumar also suggested legalising unauthorised bars in the coastal region, pointing out that beer is already being sold on beaches despite restrictions. He proposed that such operations be regularised through proper licensing. Additionally, he called for reforms regarding home possession of liquor, noting that the current seven-bottle limit is frequently violated when visitors bring bottles, often resulting in raids and cases. JD(S) leader CB Suresh Babu raised concerns over illegal liquor sales in small shops, while BJP leader S Suresh Kumar alleged that gig workers were delivering narcotics via quick commerce platforms, warning that youth and society were being adversely affected. In response, Home Minister G Parameshwara assured that the government would take strict action if provided with specific information.

Shivakumar's statements reflect a push for regulatory reform, suggesting regularisation of liquor sales, liberalisation of excise policies, and oversight of informal delivery channels to curb illegal activities while increasing state revenue and consumer access.

Cybercrime cases decline in state in 2025: HM

BELAGAVI

Home Minister Dr. G. Parameshwara informed the Legislative Assembly on Tuesday that cybercrime cases in Karnataka have shown a decline in 2025 due to stringent measures taken by the state government and the police department. Responding during Question Hour to BJP MLA Cement Manju, he said that more than 52,000 cyber fraud cases were reported in the state over the past four years, prompting the government to introduce amendments to existing laws. However, the Indian Gaming Federation has challenged these changes, and the matter is currently before the Supreme Court.

Raising the issue, Cement Manju said that a large number of youths are falling prey to online gaming frauds. Despite government restrictions, the crimes continue unabated, and arrests remain limited. Karnataka, he noted, has recorded the highest number of such cases, with victims often losing money even before contacting the national cyber helpline. He urged the government to take stronger action.

In his detailed reply, Parameshwara said cybercrime has indeed grown rapidly in recent years. In 2023, Karnataka recorded 22,250 cases, of which 6,159 were detected. Fraud worth ₹880 crore occurred that year, and authorities managed to recover ₹177 crore.

In 2024, the number rose to 28,478 cases, involving a massive fraud of ₹2,562 crore, with ₹323 crore recovered.

So far in 2025, around 13,000 cases have been registered, involving losses of ₹2,038 crore, out of which ₹127 crore has been recovered. The minister emphasised that despite the high numbers, the overall trend for 2025 shows a reduction in cybercrime incidents due to enhanced surveillance and preventive measures.

BJP MLA Sunil Kumar also raised concerns about increasing cyber betting, remarking that online betting is now even being placed on who will become the next Chief Minister. He questioned what steps the government is taking to curb such activities.

Amit Shah slams opposition linking Vande Mataram to elections

Amit Shah criticised Opposition leaders for politicising the 150-year Vande Mataram commemoration, asserting the national song transcends regional boundaries.

NEW DELHI

Home Affairs Minister Amit Shah on Tuesday launched a sharp attack on the Opposition for connecting the Rajya Sabha discussion commemorating 150 years of 'Vande Mataram' to the upcoming West Bengal Assembly elections, stating firmly that the national song belongs to the entire nation and not to any single state.

Initiating the discussion in the Upper House, Shah said, This great House has come together to reflect on the spirit of Vande Mataram, to honour its glory, and to keep it eternally alive. Through this discussion, especially for our country's children, adolescents, youth and future generations, they must understand Vande Mataram's contribution to our freedom struggle, the patriotism embodied in its composition, and the spirit of dedication to the nation and its culture.

He added that such understanding would inspire younger generations to contribute to building a great India.

Responding to criticism from some Opposition members, Shah noted, Some members raised questions in the Lok Sabha yesterday, asking why there is a need for the discussion on Vande Mataram. The need for discussion on Vande Mataram, the need for dedication towards Vande Mataram, was important back then; it is needed now, and it will always be significant for the formation of great India, which we have envisioned for 2047.

Shah also condemned attempts to link the event to the upcoming West Bengal elections, saying, Some people think that because elections are approaching in Bengal, that is why Vande Mataram is being discussed; they want to diminish the glory of Vande Mataram by linking it to the Bengal elections. He stressed that although composer Bankim Chandra Chatterjee hailed from Bengal and Anandamath, the novel where the song first appeared, originated there, Vande Mataram's reach expanded far beyond the region.

BJP legislators clashed with Treasury benches demanding action against IAS officer Tukaram Munde, prompting a brief Assembly adjournment.

Maharashtra Assembly adjourns amid BJP demands against Munde

NAGPUR

The Maharashtra Legislative Assembly was adjourned for ten minutes on Tuesday after BJP legislators raised serious allegations against senior IAS officer Tukaram Munde, triggering heated exchanges between the Treasury and Opposition benches.

BJP MLA Krishna Khopade, who initiated the discussion, alleged that Munde had issued cheques worth ₹20 crore in 2020 without the required authorisation. He further claimed that two supporters of the officer had threatened him, warning him against speaking out. I have filed a police complaint at Sitabardi police station and informed the police commissioner, as well as the offices of Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis and Speaker Rahul Narwekar, Khopade said. He added that Munde had been transferred 24 times in 20 years, calling for a detailed inquiry into the officer's conduct.

Supporting the allegations,

BJP legislator Pravin Datke told the House that Munde had cancelled the leave of a woman employee who had delivered a baby just five days earlier. He also said that several of Munde's decisions had been overturned by the Urban Development Department. There should be a thorough investigation, Datke asserted.

Responding to the charges, Minister Girish Mahajan informed the Assembly that the concerned legislators had already discussed the matter with Chief Minister Fadnavis. The Chief Minister has taken the issue seriously, and appropriate action will follow, he said.

Despite the minister's assurance, protests from the Treasury benches intensified, prompting Deputy Speaker Anna Bansode to adjourn the proceedings for ten minutes. After the House reconvened, Khopade and Datke reiterated their demand for swift action against the IAS officer. The issue is expected to continue dominating the Assembly's discussions as legislators seek clarity on the allegations and the government's next steps.

Vikram Bhatt sent to 7-day police custody in Rs 30 cr fraud case

JAIPUR

Bollywood filmmaker Vikram Bhatt and his wife Shwetambari have been remanded to seven days of police custody by the ACJM court in Udaipur in connection with an alleged Rs 30 crore fraud case. The couple was arrested from their Mumbai residence on December 7 and brought to Udaipur.

The duo was produced in court on Tuesday afternoon. DSP Chhagan Singh Rajpurohit is leading the investigation.

Upon arrival in Udaipur, both attempted to avoid media cameras. Vikram Bhatt has already challenged the case in the Jodhpur High Court, where the hearing is scheduled.

Earlier, the Udaipur Police had arrested co-producer Mehboob Ansari and vendor Sandeep from Mumbai on November 16. The court granted conditional bail to Sandeep on Monday, while rejecting Ansari's bail plea. A six-member police team led by DSP Rajpurohit reached Mumbai and arrested Vikram and Shwetambari Bhatt from their Juhu flat.

Their security staff initially attempted to block the police, claiming the couple was not home, but both were eventually taken into custody.

Special Roll Observers Tasked with Detecting Deliberate Errors in WB Voter List Revision

KOLKATA

The five additional special roll observers appointed for the ongoing Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls in West Bengal will focus primarily on identifying deliberate data entry errors during the second stage of the revision, which begins after the publication of the draft voters' list on December 16.

According to officials in the Chief Electoral Officer (CEO) office, West Bengal, the observers have been tasked not only with detecting specific intentional errors but also with identifying individuals within the system responsible for such lapses. They will subsequently recommend disciplinary action against those found culpable.

Sources said that the second phase of the SIR will also include a performance evaluation of Booth-Level Officers (BLOs), Electoral Registration Officers (EROs), and Assistant Electoral Registration Officers (AEROs), based on their effectiveness during the first stage of the revision.

The second stage will involve filing of claims and objections, along with a notice phase that includes issuance, hearing, verification, and decisions on enumeration forms. These activities will be conducted concurrently by EROs. Once this phase concludes, the third and final stage—publication of the final electoral roll—will take place on February 14. The Election Commission of India (ECI) is expected to announce the dates for the high-stakes West Bengal Assembly elections shortly thereafter.

Five special observers will oversee West Bengal's voter list revision, targeting deliberate data errors before crucial Assembly elections.

Meanwhile, officials reported a major improvement in voter roll accuracy. As of Monday afternoon, the number of polling booths identified as having no deceased voters, no duplicate entries, and no shifted voters dropped dramatically to just two, compared to the alarming 2,208 booths reported on the evening of December 1. The sharp correction reflects intensified scrutiny and corrective measures initiated during the revision process. Separately, the ECI has decided to withdraw its proposal to set up polling booths inside large housing complexes with multiple high-rise towers.

Delhi Crime Branch busts factory producing counterfeit oil filters of top auto brands

NEW DELHI

The Delhi Police Crime Branch has busted a factory allegedly involved in manufacturing counterfeit oil filters of well-known automotive brands, including Bosch, Tata and JCB, the Delhi Police said on Tuesday. The operation, led by the ARSC unit of the Crime Branch, resulted in the recovery of 1,917 duplicate oil filters along with dyes, printing equipment and branded packaging material.

According to Delhi Police, the raid was conducted on December 4 in the Anand Parbat Industrial Area after a specific tip-off was received by SI Imran Khan about the ongoing manufacture of duplicate auto parts.

A team comprising SIs Imran Khan, Devi Dayal and Gurmeet, along with other staff, and led by Inspectors Mangesh Tyagi and Robin Tyagi, carried out the operation under the supervision of ACP Sanjay Kumar Nagpal.

Police said factory owner Manmeet Singh, a resident of Delhi, was apprehended from the spot. The raid was conducted in the presence of authorised representatives of Tata Motors, Bosch Ltd and JCB India.

A total 1917 duplicate Oil Filters of Bosch, Tata & JCB Brand and 05 Dyes of Tata brand, 04 Dyes of JCB brand, 01 Dye Printing Machine, JCB stickers, holograms and card boxes were seized from the factory, the police said in its press note.

In this regard, a case under Sections u/s 63/65 Copyright Act & 103/104 Trademark Act, P.S.Crime Branch, Delhi, was registered, and investigation was taken up accordingly. Sections 318(4)/336 (3) of BNS pertaining to cheating and forgery were also added in the case, it said.

Police said the investigation now focusses on identifying the supply chain and other individuals who may be involved in the illegal manufacturing activity.

Supreme Court notice to ECI on plea seeking SIR instead of 'Special Revision' of electoral rolls

NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Tuesday issued notice to the Election Commission of India (ECI) on a writ petition challenging the poll panel's decision to conduct only a Special Revision of the electoral rolls in Assam, instead of undertaking a more rigorous Special Intensive Revision (SIR) ahead of the 2026 Assembly elections.

A bench of Chief Justice of India (CJI) Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi sought the ECI's response and posted the matter for further hearing next Tuesday.

The petition, filed by senior advocate and former Gauhati High Court Bar Association President Mrinal Kumar Choudhury, argued that Assam has been singled out for a diluted revision exercise, even though the ECI had earlier informed the apex court that SIR would be conducted pan-India.

Appearing for the petitioner, senior advocate Vijay Hansaria termed the ECI's approach arbitrary and discriminatory.

Assam has been singled out. Nothing is required in Assam. No document required, Hansaria submitted, referring to the fact that under the Special Revision process, electors are not required to furnish any proof of citizenship, age or residence, unlike in an SIR where electors must submit supporting documents along with their enumeration forms.

The senior counsel relied on the Supreme Court's observations in multiple judgments, including the Constitution Bench verdict in In Re: Section 6A of the Citizenship Act, which recognised large-scale demographic changes in Assam due to infiltration.

He pressed for an immediate stay on the ongoing revision process in Assam. However, the CJI-led bench remarked that the ECI might have adopted a different approach for Assam because of the special laws applicable in the state, the constitution of foreigners' tribunals, etc.

They might have done it so. Might be, said the apex court, declining to pass interim orders without hearing the ECI.

Decomposed body of elderly man recovered from locked house

KOLKATA

The horror of the Robinson Street incident has returned in Kolkata, with a daughter found sitting in a locked room alongside her father's decomposed body. Her mother was also present, police said. The incident occurred in Kabsa's Bosepukur area, and locals helped the police recover the body from the residence.

The deceased has been identified as 64-year-old Sumit Sen. His body has been sent for autopsy, and it is not yet clear when or how he died. Preliminary investigations suggest that all three family members had long-term mental health issues.

Sumit lived with his wife, Archana Sen, and daughter, Sampriti Sen, on the first floor of their Bosepukur home. He had worked in a private organisation, and since retirement, neighbours often looked after the family, as they rarely left the house.

For three days, the family was not seen outside, raising suspicion. Relatives contacted Sampriti, who insisted her parents were fine, but they did not respond over the phone. When neighbours visited, the door was locked from the inside, and no one answered repeated knocks.

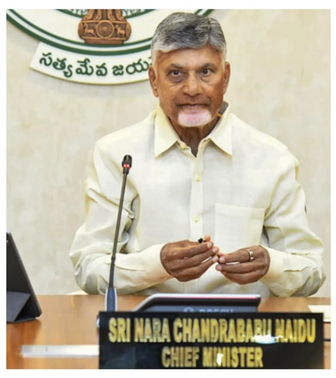
Naidu urges NDA leaders to join 'Atal Sandesh–Modi Suparipalana' Yatra

Chandrababu Naidu called on NDA leaders to participate actively in a statewide yatra promoting Atal Bihari Vajpayee's governance ideals.

AMRAVATI

Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister N. Chandrababu Naidu on Tuesday urged leaders of the ruling National Democratic Alliance (NDA) to take part in the 'Atal Sandesh–Modi Suparipalana' Yatra, scheduled to be held across the state from December 11 to 25. The initiative aims to spread the message of good governance advocated by former Prime Minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee as part of his birth centenary celebrations.

Addressing NDA ministers, MPs, MLAs and MLCs during a teleconference, Naidu appealed to the leadership of the Telugu Desam Party (TDP), Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) and Jana Sena to ensure the programme's success through active involvement. He also congratulated the BJP state executive for its decision to organise the yatra statewide, noting that such efforts would inspire the youth by highlighting Vajpayee's legacy.



Describing Vajpayee as a political Bhishma, the Chief Minister said it was a matter of pride to hold the event during the centenary year of the late leader. He emphasised that Vajpayee laid a strong foundation for good governance in India, implementing policies that sowed the seeds of long-term national development. Mr Vajpayee was a leader with no enemies and provided leadership that every Indian is proud of, Naidu remarked.

He further highlighted Vajpayee's remarkable journey from humble beginnings to becoming one of India's most respected statesmen. Vajpayee was elected to the Lok Sabha nine times and to the Rajya Sabha twice, reflecting his stature and popularity, Naidu noted.

Recalling important milestones in Vajpayee's life, Naidu mentioned his participation in the Quit India movement at the age of 18, the Pokhran-II nuclear tests conducted in 1998 to showcase India's strength, and his decisive leadership during the Kargil War.

Yogi Adityanath warns divisive forces, urges national unity Gorakhpur

Yogi Adityanath cautioned against divisive forces and urged citizens to embrace national unity while honouring India's military legacy.

GORAKHPUR

Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on Tuesday warned against forces attempting to divide society and the nation along caste, regional or linguistic lines, saying such elements were committing sins akin to those of Jaichand and Mir Jafar. He asserted that individuals motivated by narrow interests were working to weaken the country and prioritising personal gain over national welfare.

There are people who want to break the country — some in the name of caste, some in the name of region, and some in the name of language, he said. He added that when such elements come to power, they think only of themselves and their families, acquiring properties, hotels and even islands abroad while pushing the nation toward poverty. CM Yogi stressed that true national progress is possible only when unity prevails and discrimination is eliminated.

The Chief Minister made these remarks while serving as the chief guest at the inauguration of a newly constructed auditorium at Sainik School Gorakhpur. The facility, which can accommodate more than 1,000 people, has been named after India's first Chief of Defence Staff, General Bipin Rawat. During the event, Yogi Adityanath unveiled a statue of General Rawat, installed by the GBR Memorial Foundation of India on his fourth death anniversary, and released a booklet detailing his exceptional life and service.

Reflecting on General Rawat's enduring contribution to national security, the Chief Minister highlighted the contemporary challenges India faces and urged citizens to embrace the five pledges articulated by Prime Minister Narendra Modi to build a Viksit Bharat (Developed India). He described these pledges as eternal life mantras essential for shaping India's future.

Referring to the Amrit Mahotsav of independence, he recalled the Prime Minister's appeal to develop a clear roadmap for India's growth by 2047, the centenary of independence.

Opposition parties initiated impeachment steps against Justice Swaminathan after his order permitting Karthigai Deepam lighting sparked major controversy.

INDIA Bloc Moves to Impeach Madras HC Judge Over Controversial Karthigai Deepam Order

CHENNAI

The INDIA bloc has formally begun the process of moving an impeachment motion against Madras High Court judge G. R. Swaminathan, following his controversial directive allowing the lighting of the Karthigai Deepam lamp atop a stone pillar at the disputed Thiruparankundram Hill in Tamil Nadu. A memorandum seeking his removal has already been submitted to the Lok Sabha Speaker, signalling a major escalation in the political and legal dispute.

Justice Swaminathan's order, which permitted the traditional lighting of the Karthigai Deepam during the festival, ignited protests and significantly heightened tensions in and around Madurai. Police subsequently restricted public access to the hill area, citing law and order concerns, further intensifying public outcry and political criticism.

The matter continues to be under legal scrutiny, even as opposition parties sharpen their stance. Leaders from the Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam (DMK), the Communist Party of India (CPI), and other INDIA alliance constituents have held multiple rounds of internal consultations to assess the implications of the judge's directive on communal harmony and public order.

The issue was brought to Parliament, where several opposition MPs accused Justice Swaminathan of judicial overreach in a matter they argued was highly sensitive and capable of provoking unrest. They claimed that the order interfered with administrative decisions aimed at maintaining peace in the area.

A senior Tamil Nadu MP confirmed that the INDIA bloc is preparing to introduce a formal impeachment motion in Parliament. Under constitutional provisions, the removal of a High Court judge requires the signatures of at least 100 Lok Sabha members and 50 Rajya Sabha members before the motion can be admitted for further consideration.

MAHARASHTRA STRAY DOGS

Maharashtra MLAs Seek Action on Stray Dogs

NAGPUR

Ruling and opposition members of the Maharashtra Legislative Assembly on Tuesday raised alarm over the increasing stray dog menace in both urban and rural areas, calling for urgent and comprehensive intervention. Several MLAs argued that current measures were insufficient and pressed the government to establish Animal Birth Control (ABC) centres and shelter homes across the state to address the escalating problem.

Responding to a calling attention motion moved by BJP legislator Atul Bhatkhalkar and others, Minister of State for Urban Development Madhuri Misal informed the House that the government had approved the implementation of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (Care and Maintenance of Case Property Animals) Rules, 2017, and the Animal Birth Control (Dogs) Rules, 2023. These rules will now be enforced across all Municipal Corporations and the 93 Municipal Councils and Nagar Panchayats.

Misal further announced that a State-level Animal Birth Control Monitoring Committee (ABCMC) has been formed under the chairmanship of the Principal Secretary of the Urban Development Department. The committee will supervise and coordinate the implementation of the ABC programme throughout the state. A detailed Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) for carrying out the Animal Birth Control programme has also been prepared, along with guidelines to effectively manage stray dog populations. These procedures are being implemented in coordination with the Animal Husbandry Department and the Animal Welfare Board of India (AWBI).

The minister assured the Assembly that local self-government bodies — including Municipal Corporations, Municipal Councils and Nagar Panchayats — are making sustained efforts to reduce stray dog numbers.

Failed military coup rocks Benin, leader flees

COTONOU

A short-lived military coup shook Benin early Monday, leaving casualties before government forces regained control. Around 5 a.m., soldiers calling themselves the Committee for Refoundation seized the national TV station, claiming to remove President Patrice Talon. The uprising, led by Lt. Col. Pascal Tigri, was quickly crushed with help from Nigerian and Ivorian forces. Several arrests were made, hostages released, and armored vehicles disabled. Calm returned to Cotonou by Monday afternoon.

India, Canada restart intelligence sharing and cooperation

OTTAWA

India and Canada have resumed intelligence sharing and security cooperation after tensions over past allegations involving Indian agents. Indian National Security Advisor Ajit Doval and his Canadian counterpart Nathalie Drouin have established direct communication channels to rebuild trust. The two countries are enhancing law enforcement dialogue, with agencies like India's NIA and Canada's RCMP holding ongoing virtual discussions on gangs, terrorism, and weapons movement. Officials said the focus is on safer streets in Canada and stronger collaboration.

Over 1,500 Afghans forcibly returned from neighbors

KABUL

Over 1,500 Afghan refugees were forcibly sent back from Pakistan and Iran, officials said on Tuesday. The High Commission for Addressing Migrants' Issues reported that 320 families, totaling 1,579 people, returned through border points in Helmand, Nimroz, Kandahar, Nangarhar, and Herat. Of these, 521 families were escorted to their home areas, while 306 received humanitarian aid, and 397 SIM cards were distributed. UNHCR data shows Pakistan arrested over 100,000 Afghans this year, a record rise. Humanitarian groups urged that returns be voluntary, warning of housing and employment challenges for families at the border.

Deadly Jakarta fire claims twenty lives, authorities say

Firefighters continue searching for trapped victims, focusing on cooling the building amid intense heat, thick smoke, and recovery efforts

At least 20 people were killed Tuesday afternoon in a fire that engulfed a seven-storey office building in central Jakarta, police reported. The blaze began when a battery on the first floor exploded, rapidly spreading flames and smoke to upper levels.

Central Jakarta police chief Susatyo Purnomo Condro told reporters that of the victims, five were men and 15 were women, including a pregnant woman. Most of the deceased appeared to have died from asphyxiation rather than burns. Their bodies were taken to a police hospital for autopsy.

Firefighters are still searching the building for any additional victims who may be trapped. Condro said crews were focused on cooling the structure, as intense heat and thick smoke persisted across several floors. Authorities are also working to identify the victims recovered so far.

Deadly fires are unfortunately not uncommon in Indonesia. In 2023, an explosion at a nickel-processing plant in eastern Indonesia killed 12 people and injured 39 others. Fire safety challenges, combined with rapid urban growth, have made high-rise fires a recurring risk in the capital.

Officials have urged the public to remain cautious and have vowed a thorough investigation into the cause and circumstances of the fire. Emergency responders continue to assess the building for structural safety before resuming full operations.

The Jakarta community has expressed grief over the tragic incident, with authorities promising to support the victims' families and prevent similar accidents in the future.

Kim Jong-un offers condolences to Putin's loss

SEOUL

North Korean leader Kim Jong-un has sent a message of condolence to Russian President Vladimir Putin following the death of Russian Ambassador Aleksandr Matsegora in Pyongyang, state media reported Tuesday. Matsegora passed away on December 6 at the age of 70, though the cause of death has not been disclosed. In his message, Kim expressed "deep condolences" to Putin, the Russian leadership, and the late ambassador's family. He described Matsegora as a "close friend and comrade of the DPRK people" who devoted over 30 years to strengthening North Korea-Russia relations. Kim noted that the ambassador's efforts helped transform bilateral ties into a "firm alliance," calling his sudden death a "heartbreaking event and a great loss" at a crucial time for relations between the two nations. Russia's foreign ministry confirmed Matsegora's death on Saturday. He first joined the Russian Embassy in Pyongyang in 1999 and became Russia's top envoy to North Korea in 2015. In recent years, he played a key role in coordinating cooperation between Pyongyang and Moscow.

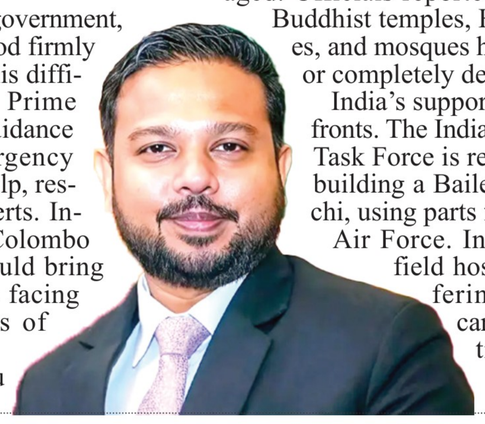
Hemachandra highlighted India's support for Sri Lanka, providing emergency supplies, technical aid, rescue teams, and relief for flood-hit communities

India's aid strengthens SL recovery

COLOMBO

Sri Lanka has expressed heartfelt thanks to India for sending swift and much-needed help as the country continues to cope with the destruction left by Cyclone Ditwah. The Indian Naval Ship Gharial reached Trincomalee carrying 700 tonnes of food, clothes, and other essential supplies from Tamil Nadu. Deputy Foreign Minister Arun Hemachandra received the cargo and praised India's timely support under Operation Sagar Bandhu.

Hemachandra said India's government, military, and people have stood firmly with Sri Lanka throughout this difficult period. He noted that Prime Minister Narendra Modi's guidance had ensured not only emergency supplies but also technical help, rescue teams, and disaster experts. India's High Commission in Colombo added that the shipment would bring direct relief to communities facing severe shortages after days of flooding and landslides.



Operation Sagar Bandhu began on November 28, soon after the cyclone hit. Cyclone Ditwah has caused widespread damage across the island, triggering massive floods, landslides, and heavy loss of life. According to the Disaster Management Centre, 627 people have died and 190 remain missing. More than 21 lakh people have been affected, while over 7 lakh families are still struggling to rebuild their lives after losing homes, farms, and belongings.

Many religious sites have also been damaged. Officials reported that more than 760 Buddhist temples, Hindu Kovils, churches, and mosques have been either partly or completely destroyed.

India's support continues on several fronts. The Indian Army's Engineering Task Force is repairing key roads and building a Bailey bridge in Kilinochchi, using parts flown in by the Indian Air Force. India has also set up a field hospital near Kandy, offering surgeries, trauma care, and urgent medical treatment to affected families.

United Nation urges protection of civilians amid Congo conflict

KINSHASA

The United Nations has called on all parties in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC) to respect international humanitarian law and protect civilians amid escalating violence in the country's eastern regions. Bruno Lemarquis, the UN humanitarian coordinator in the DRC, warned that the use of explosive weapons in populated areas and attacks on schools and other civilian infrastructure must stop immediately.

President Felix Tshisekedi said Monday that rebels from the March 23 Movement (M23) launched an offensive against the Armed Forces of the DRC in South Kivu Province. Recent clashes have occurred in territories including Uvira, Walungu, Mwenga, Shabunda, Kabare, Fizi, and Kalehe, involving heavy weaponry and shelling in densely populated areas.

The escalating violence has claimed at least 74 lives and displaced over 200,000 people since December 2, according to UN statistics. South Kivu already hosted 1.2 million internally displaced persons before the latest fighting. Security conditions in eastern DRC have worsened sharply since January, with the M23 intensifying attacks in North and South Kivu, causing many civilian casualties and widespread displacement.

The UN Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs (OCHA) reported that food security in the region is rapidly deteriorating. Road blockages have sharply increased the prices of basic staples, with sugar costs rising sixfold and cassava flour more than tripling since January. Burundi's National Office for the Protection of Refugees and Stateless Persons urged immediate support in food, health, water, sanitation, and hygiene.

OCHA emphasized the need for all parties to uphold their obligations under international law and allow safe humanitarian access to deliver life-saving aid.

Cambodia-Thailand border clashes leave six dead

PHNOM PENH

Thai Air Force launched operations to reduce Cambodia's military capacity and protect civilians, while Cambodia monitors the situation, respecting agreements and pursuing peaceful resolutions under international law.

The civilian death toll in the ongoing Cambodia-Thailand border conflict has risen to six, after two more Cambodian civilians were killed early Tuesday, the Cambodian Defence Ministry confirmed. The ministry said Thai forces continued to fire on Cambodian positions and civilians along national roads, causing the latest casualties.

Since early Tuesday, Thai troops have targeted Cambodia's Preah Vihear, Oddar Meanchey, and Pursat provinces. The renewed violence comes less than two months after the two countries signed a joint peace declaration. Both sides have blamed each other for starting the clashes, which include artillery fire, air strikes, and small arms fire, forcing local residents to evacuate affected areas.

On Monday, the Thai Army reported deploying fighter jets after attacks from Cambodian forces left two Thai soldiers dead and four wounded. Meanwhile, Cambodia said its forces did not return fire and were attacked repeatedly, including at Tamoan Thom temple, 5 Makara, and Chomka Chek areas in Preah Vihear province. Cambodian officials said Thai troops had carried out provocative actions over several days, including an incident in Prorlean Thmar on Sunday.

Thai Air Force spokesperson Jackkrit Thammavichai stated that air operations were launched to reduce Cambodia's military capacity and protect civilians. Cambodian Defence Ministry spokesperson Lt. Gen. Maly Socheata said her country continues to monitor the situation carefully and respects previous agreements while seeking peaceful resolutions under international law.

Cambodia has informed the ASEAN Observer Team about the incidents and plans to request an investigation. Both nations remain on high alert as the conflict continues to escalate along the contested border, raising fears of further casualties.

The tense standoff underscores ongoing border disputes in the region and the challenge of maintaining peace despite recent diplomatic efforts.

Strong quake shakes Japan; fears of bigger tremor

TOKYO

At least 30 people were injured after a strong 7.5-magnitude earthquake struck off the eastern coast of Japan late Monday night, sending tsunami waves up to 70 centimetres high along parts of the Pacific coast. Officials said the quake hit at 11:15 p.m. near Aomori Prefecture at a depth of 54 kilometres, shaking large areas and prompting urgent warnings. Japan's Meteorological Agency cautioned that another quake of equal or stronger magnitude could hit the same region in the coming days. The agency noted that the quake occurred along the trench near Hokkaido and northeastern Japan, an area known for powerful seismic activity as the Pacific Plate moves under the main island of Honshu. The initial estimate of 7.6 magnitude was later revised to 7.5, and authorities briefly warned of possible tsunami waves up to 3 metres. Prime Minister Sanae Takaichi urged residents to stay alert and closely follow updates from local officials throughout the week. She advised people to secure furniture and prepare for the possibility of more strong shaking. The highest tsunami wave recorded was 70 centimetres in Iwate Prefecture, and the warning was reduced to an advisory about three and a half hours later before being fully lifted at 6:20 a.m. Tuesday.

Freed Nigerian students return amid ongoing captivity

MINNA

A group of 100 schoolchildren abducted last month from St. Mary's Catholic School in Papiri, Niger State, were released over the weekend and welcomed at a government ceremony on late Monday. Many of the children appeared relieved but visibly shaken after weeks in captivity.

At least 303 students, along with 12 teachers, were seized when gunmen attacked the school on November 21. Fifty children escaped shortly after the abduction, but at least 150 students and the teachers remain in captivity. Details surrounding the release of the 100 children have not been made public, and authorities did not confirm whether any ransom was paid.

The freed children arrived in buses escorted by military trucks and were received at the Niger Government House in Minna by officials, who hugged and posed for photos with them. Most of the students, aged between 10 and 17, wore casual clothing, including soccer jerseys and slippers, and were reportedly held in Abuja prior to their release. Niger State Governor Mohammed Bago said health experts would examine the children before reuniting them with their families. "We hope to recover the remaining students who are still in captivity," he said, urging continued prayers for their safe return.

President Bola Tinubu praised security agencies for their work, promising that all abducted students and other kidnapped Nigerians would be rescued. No group has claimed responsibility for the attack, but local armed gangs targeting schools and travelers for ransom are suspected.

The incident follows a spate of mass abductions across northern Nigeria, including recent attacks in Kebbi and Kwara states. Parents and authorities continue to hope for the safe return of all missing children as the country grapples with its ongoing security crisis.

Reinvigorating India's ghost shopping centres can unlock Rs 357 crore

New Delhi

These 'ghost malls' are assets marked by high vacancies, weak tenant curation, ageing infrastructure and declining relevance. Across 365 shopping centres, 74 have been classified as ghost assets, representing 15.5 mn sq ft of dormant retail potential. Within this pool, 15 centres with a combined area of 4.8 mn sq ft have been identified as high-potential assets that could deliver as much as Rs 357 crore.

Dhanbad

Adani Group will invest over $75 billion in energy transition space over the next five years, said its Chairman Gautam Adani on Tuesday. At the 100th anniversary of the Indian Institute of Technology (Indian School of Mines) Dhanbad, the businessman noted that Adani Group has invested to become one of the world's fastest-growing renewable energy companies. RBI guidelines spare 12 bank groups from restructuring, says Crisil Ratings

Revised RBI rules allowing overlapping lending activities within bank groups prevented significant restructuring for major lenders, Crisil Ratings reported Tuesday.

NEW DELHI

The Reserve Bank of India's newly issued guidelines for commercial banks' financial services businesses particularly the provision allowing overlapping lending activities within bank groups have prevented the need for major restructuring by 12 large bank groups, a Crisil Ratings report said on Tuesday.

According to the report, the final framework seeks to eliminate regulatory arbitrage by harmonising rules across all entities within a banking group. This alignment is expected to strengthen the financial system structurally while offering institutions greater flexibility in conducting business. Collectively, the 12 bank groups represent about 55 per cent of total sectoral advances.

The earlier draft guidelines released in October 2024 had proposed restricting each banking group to a single entity for any specific line of business, prohibiting overlap in lending functions between a bank and its affiliated entities. Had the draft been implemented without modification, the report notes, several major lenders would have faced significant operational changes.

The RBI has, however, retained key elements from the draft, including the extension of upper-layer scale-based regulations to non-banking financial companies (NBFCs), restrictions on certain categories of loans and advances, and an upper limit of 20 per cent on a bank group's shareholding in an asset reconstruction company (ARC).

Crisil Ratings Director Subha Sri Narayanan said that implementing the draft in its original form would have required restructuring across 12 bank groups, with an estimated impact of 2–6 per cent on the consolidated advances of individual banks. However, with the final guidelines permitting bank group entities to maintain overlapping lending businesses, subject to Board approval, there will be no disruption to their operations.

India Records Highest-Ever Half-Year Exports in FY 2025–26, Parliament Told

India's export sector showed strong resilience and global competitiveness, achieving record quarterly and half-year performance despite global uncertainties.

MUMBAI

India's export sector has conveyed a strong message of resilience and global competitiveness in FY 2025–26, achieving its highest-ever quarterly exports in both Q1 and Q2 even as global markets continue to face uncertainty, the Parliament was informed on Tuesday.

Minister of State for Commerce and Industry Jitin Prasada, in a written reply to the Lok Sabha, said overall exports for April to September 2025 reached $418.6 billion, up from $395.7 billion in the same period last year. This represents a 5.8 per cent growth, marking India's strongest half-year export performance on record.

The Commerce Ministry noted that India's export momentum remains steady despite a temporary dip in October 2025. Exports in that month were slightly lower due to an unusually high base in October 2024, which remains the best October export performance to date.

Prasada emphasised that India's export strategy is anchored in credibility, resilience, and proactive global outreach. He highlighted that high-level diplomatic engagements and ongoing negotiations with key partner nations continue to strengthen trade relationships and deliver long-term economic benefits, even when short-term variations appear.

The minister stated that India's export ecosystem has been significantly strengthened by structural reforms, improved logistics, expanded port capacity, and focused export facilitation measures. He added that Production-Linked Incentive (PLI) schemes have enhanced manufacturing competitiveness, while the services sector continues to act as a strong driver of India's external trade performance.

On trade agreements, the government informed Parliament that five major Free Trade Agreements (FTAs) have been finalised in the past five years. These include agreements with Mauritius, the UAE, Australia, the European Free Trade Association (EFTA), and the India–UK trade pact, which will come into effect following ratification.

Rural Development Ministry cleared 25 new Tripura road projects to strengthen connectivity and improve access in remote tribal regions.

Centre Approves 25 New Road Projects in Tripura Under PM-JANMAN Scheme

TRIPURA

The Ministry of Rural Development on Tuesday approved 25 new road projects in Tripura under the Road Connectivity component of the PM-JANMAN scheme. The projects span 65.38 kilometres and will be developed at an estimated cost of ₹68.67 crore, marking a significant boost to infrastructure in some of the state's most remote tribal areas.

In an official statement, the ministry said, The Ministry of Rural Development has sanctioned 25 road projects measuring 65.38 km length under the Road Connectivity component of PM-JANMAN, with an estimated investment of ₹68.67 crore for Tripura.

According to the ministry, the new roads will offer all-weather connectivity to 30 habitations belonging to Particularly Vulnerable Tribal Groups (PVTGs). The improved road network is expected to make travel easier and safer year-round, bringing substantial relief to communities that often face isolation during difficult weather conditions.

The ministry added that the initiative will enhance connectivity in rural areas, bridging the gap between remote villages and urban centres. By linking isolated habitations to nearby towns, the project aims to strengthen rural mobility and promote more inclusive development.

Officials believe that better transport infrastructure will stimulate local economic activity, help small-scale trade grow, and generate new employment opportunities for residents of these regions. Improved connectivity is also expected to make essential services more accessible.

With upgraded roads, people in tribal and rural areas will find it easier to reach hospitals, schools, and local markets, supporting better health outcomes, improved educational access, and higher income prospects. The government expects the initiative to significantly enhance the quality of life for vulnerable tribal communities across Tripura.

India shows strong hiring growth for Q1 2026

NEW DELHI

Indian employers report an extremely strong job market in India in the first quarter of 2026, with organisations increasingly willing to invest in skills, technology, and talent, a report said on Tuesday.

The report by ManpowerGroup India, based on a survey of 3,051 employers across India during October 2025, revealed a Net Employment Outlook (NEO) of 52 per cent, underscoring a strategic shift toward quality over volume. The report noted that a faster-than-expected growth rate of the Indian economy is due to a favourable monsoon that drove rural demand and lower oil prices, minimal impact of the US tariffs, and reforms in the banking sector, which enabled easier access to foreign loans, supporting company growth and job creation.

Meanwhile, efforts have been ramped up to internalise the Indian rupee for cross-border trade, aiming to decrease dependence on US dollars, which will ultimately benefit the economy in the long term.

Given these metrics, Indian employers' hiring sentiment looks optimistic for the near term, stated the report.

India's hiring outlook is not just strong - it is signaling a new phase of economic confidence and capability-building. What these trends truly reflect is India's transition from volume-led hiring to value creation: organisations are investing in the skills, technologies, and talent architectures that will define their competitiveness over the next decade, said Sandeep Gulati, Managing Director, ManpowerGroup India and Middle East.

The report noted a demand in sectors such as finance, professional services, manufacturing, and real estate, indicative of employers actively preparing for a more digital, regulated, and innovation-driven economy, Gulati said.

As we move into 2026, India will shape its talent market around three fundamentals: critical skills, technological leverage, and purposeful expansion, said Gulati. Further, the report noted that Indian employers in all nine sectors anticipate increasing staffing levels in Q1 2026.

Cement makers set for 2.5–3.5 pc profit boost driven by volume growth

MUMBAI

Cement manufacturers' profitability will rise about 2.5 per cent to 3.5 per cent this fiscal year due to improved realisations driven by higher volumes and premiumisation amid steady selling prices and cost of inputs, a report said on Tuesday.

Though the goods and services tax from 28 per cent to 18 per cent is expected to weigh on retail prices, the premiumisation and higher demand will offset the pressure and improve profitability for the manufacturers, the report from Crisil Intelligence said.

Cement volumes are seen rising 6.5–7.5 per cent year on year after a 5 per cent growth last fiscal, with a moderate 5 per cent growth in the first half and a projected 8–9 per cent surge in the second half fuelled by pent-up demand and better liquidity.

The firm projected that average pan India prices will remain rangebound at Rs 354–359 per 50 kg bag, based on analysis of 14 major manufacturers that account for about 85 per cent of industry revenue.

The average pan India cement prices saw a modest 3 per cent on year increase during the first half, Sehul Bhatt, Director, Crisil Intelligence.

However, we anticipate the full impact of the GST reform will be realised in the third quarter, leading to a 4-5 per cent decline in retail prices in the second half of the fiscal. Despite subdued pricing, the industry is poised for higher realisations this fiscal, driven by healthy volume growth, Bhatt added.

Excluding GST, cement prices are expected to rise 3-4 per cent on-year in the coming quarter. However, the reduction in GST is expected to lead to a decline in overall prices, it said.

The manufacturers saw a 5 per cent increase in realisations in the first half of this fiscal. The momentum is expected to slow in the second half, with realisations growing a modest 0-2 per cent.

India recommends AI firms pay creators royalties set by govt panel

MUMBAI

The Centre has proposed a major new framework for AI training that would require all AI companies to obtain a mandatory blanket licence and pay royalties for using copyrighted works created by musicians, authors, news publishers, and other creators. The royalty rates would be set by a government-appointed committee and collected through a single collective body formed by copyright holders.

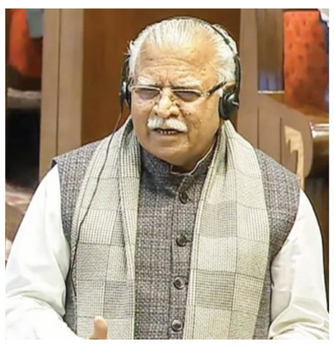
The proposal, outlined in a working paper titled 'One Nation, One License, One Payment: Balancing AI Innovation and Copyright,' rejects voluntary licensing agreements such as the deal between OpenAI and the Associated Press. The paper argues that voluntary deals create high transaction costs, long negotiations, and unequal bargaining power, ultimately disadvantaging small creators and startups while failing to provide broad and reliable access to training data. If adopted, India would become the only country to implement a statutory licensing regime specifically for AI developers.

A committee member said the goal is to ensure equitable compensation and prevent large players on either side from dominating royalties. The recommendations also seek to guarantee non-discriminatory access to copyrighted material for AI companies.

PMAY HOUSES DELIVERED

Centre Hands Over 95.54 Lakh Houses Under PMAY Schemes, Minister Tells Parliament

NEW DELHI



The Centre has handed over 95.54 lakh houses to beneficiaries under the two schemes of the Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana (PMAY), Minister of Housing and Urban Affairs Manohar Lal told Parliament on Tuesday.

Responding to supplementaries in the Rajya Sabha during Question Hour, the minister cited a 2020 nationwide slum survey, which revealed that 6.5 crore people, representing 1.39 crore households, were living in slums across India. He clarified that land and colonisation fall under State jurisdiction; therefore, policies and programmes for slum rehabilitation rest with individual States and Union Territories. As a result, the Ministry does not maintain centralised data on slum rehabilitation or relocation.

In the National Capital Territory of Delhi (NCTD), slum rehabilitation and demolitions are undertaken by land-owning agencies such as the Delhi Development Authority (DDA) and the Delhi Urban Shelter Improvement Board (DUSIB) under relevant laws. Detailing DDA's rehabilitation efforts, the minister stated that as part of its Slum Rehabilitation Programme, the authority conducted demolitions only after ensuring proper rehabilitation of eligible households. Out of 5,158 households, 3,414 were assessed as eligible for alternative accommodation under DUSIB policy.

These eligible families have been provided housing equipped with modern facilities. The minister added that implementing agencies undertake rehabilitation projects based on their respective land management guidelines and the slum rehabilitation frameworks of States and UTs.

During rehabilitation and resettlement processes, land-owning and implementing agencies—as well as affected families—may seek assistance under PMAY-Urban (PMAY-U) and PMAY-U 2.0, provided they meet eligibility criteria. The Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs has been supporting States and UTs by offering central assistance under PMAY-U since June 25, 2015, for constructing homes for eligible urban families, including slum dwellers.

Highlighting new reforms, Manohar Lal said the government has revamped its urban housing mission, launching PMAY-U 2.0 'Housing for All' on September 1, 2024.

From Airpocalypse to Clean Air: Beijing's Remarkable Transformation

In January 2013, residents of Beijing woke up to a nightmare. The sky had turned a thick, ashen gray, visibility dropped to mere meters, and the air carried a metallic taste that stung the throat. Fine particulate matter levels reached 22 times the World Health Organization's recommended safe limit. This crisis, dubbed the Airpocalypse, marked a turning point in China's environmental history. Today, just over a decade later, Beijing stands as a testament to what determined government action and public engagement can achieve in combating air pollution.

The Dark Days: 2013 and the Crisis That Changed Everything

The winter of 2013 was Beijing's environmental nadir. At one point in mid-January, the Air Quality Index soared to 993, far beyond levels health officials deemed extremely dangerous. For context, an AQI above 300 is considered hazardous; Beijing's readings were off the charts. Throughout 2013, air pollution levels averaged 100 micrograms per cubic meter, 10 times higher than the World Health Organization's recommended level of 10 micrograms per cubic meter. The crisis wasn't just about uncomfortable days or reduced visibility. The human toll was staggering. Children's hospitals overflowed with patients suffering from respiratory ailments, and researchers estimated that 8,500 premature deaths linked to pollution occurred in four Chinese cities, including Beijing. The severity of the pollution forced residents to take extraordinary measures. Families barricaded themselves indoors with air purifiers running continuously. Those who ventured outside wore elaborate masks that became as essential as clothing. Schools closed, flights were grounded, and the very fabric of daily life was disrupted by the toxic air that enveloped the city. What made this crisis particularly notable was the convergence of multiple factors. Coal burning for winter heating, emissions from five million motor vehicles, industrial pollution from surrounding provinces, and stagnant weather conditions combined to create a perfect storm of contamination.

The Awakening: Public Pressure and Govt Response

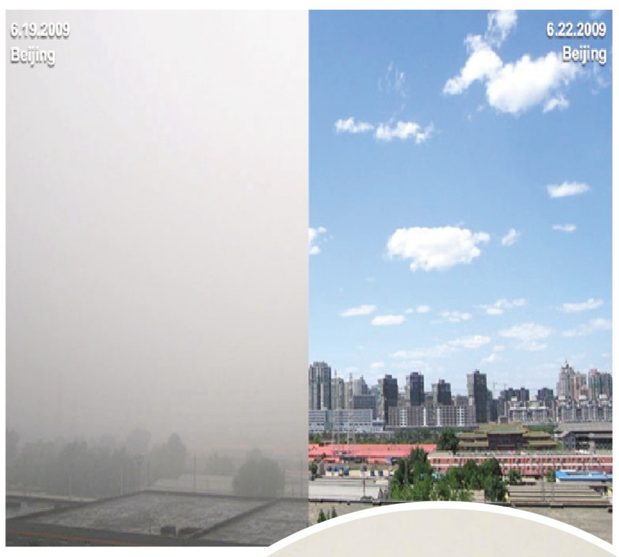
The 2013 Airpocalypse catalyzed a fundamental shift in how China approached air pollution. For years, the government had been reluctant to acknowledge the severity of the problem. However, the crisis of 2013 changed everything. Social media platforms buzzed with images of the smog-choked city, and international attention focused on Beijing's environmental catastrophe. A key factor in driving change was transparency. The U.S. Embassy in Beijing had been operating its own pollution monitor and publishing hourly readings on Twitter. Citizens noticed large discrepancies between official Chinese figures and U.S. measurements, which sparked public outcry and demanded accountability. In response, the Chinese government began publishing real-time Air Quality Index data for 74 cities across the country. This transparency was revolutionary. For the first time, citizens could quantify what they were breathing and hold authorities accountable for improvements. The term PM2.5 entered everyday vocabulary, and public awareness of air pollution reached unprecedented levels. The government's response was comprehensive and ambitious. In September 2013, Beijing launched the Clean Air Action Plan 2013-2017, a five-year blueprint that would fundamentally reshape the city's approach to pollution control. The plan set clear targets and mobilized resources on an unprecedented scale.

Regional Coordination: A Collaborative Approach

One crucial lesson from Beijing's experience was that air pollution doesn't respect city boundaries. Pollutants from surrounding provinces, particularly industrialized Hebei, drifted into Beijing, meaning that local measures alone would never be sufficient. Beijing pioneered regional air quality coordination in the Beijing-Tianjin-Hebei region. Air quality work was supported by comprehensive legal standards, strict environmental law enforcement, economic policies, public participation, and coordination on air pollution prevention and control in the Beijing-Tianjin-Hebei region. This collaborative approach ensured that all provinces in the region worked toward common air quality goals.

Coal: The Primary Target

Coal combustion was identified as the single largest contributor to Beijing's air pollution, responsible for approximately 50 percent of the city's contamination. The government launched an aggressive campaign to eliminate coal use within the city. Coal-fired power plants and boilers were eliminated, and all gas-fired boilers in the core city area were renovated or dismantled. The transformation extended to residential heating. Traditional coal-burning stoves in homes were replaced with cleaner alternatives, including natural gas and electric heating systems. This transition wasn't just about technology—it required massive infrastructure investment and careful planning to ensure residents could stay warm during Beijing's harsh winters without relying on coal.



Transportation: Greening the Streets

With five million vehicles on the roads, transportation emissions represented another major pollution source. Beijing implemented a comprehensive strategy to reduce vehicle emissions and promote cleaner alternatives. The city introduced strict vehicle emission standards and eliminated more than 2 million high- emission vehicles since 2013. Old, polluting cars were taken off the roads through buyback programs and regulatory measures. New vehicles had to meet increasingly stringent emission standards before they could be registered. Perhaps most dramatically, Beijing embraced electric mobility. The city deployed thousands of electric buses, becoming part of a broader Chinese push toward electric public transportation. By 2025, the government aimed for electric and new energy vehicles to comprise half of all registered vehicles in the city.

Recognition and Lessons for the World

Beijing's transformation hasn't gone unnoticed internationally. The United Nations Environment Programme praised the city's achievements, with one official stating that Beijing's success demonstrates how a large city in a developing country can balance environmental protection and economic growth. The city's approach offers valuable lessons for other cities worldwide struggling with air pollution. First, comprehensive action is essential—addressing just one source of pollution while ignoring others won't produce meaningful results. Second, political will and substantial financial investment are non-negotiable. Third, transparency and public engagement drive accountability and support for difficult policy measures.

Industry: Restructuring and Relocation

Industrial emissions from heavy industries such as steel, cement, and glass manufacturing—particularly from Hebei province surrounding Beijing—contributed significantly to the pollution problem. Addressing this required both local action and regional coordination. Beijing closed nearly 2,000 factories within the city limits, particularly those engaged in heavy, polluting industries. Many factories were relocated to areas outside Beijing, though this strategy drew criticism for simply shifting pollution rather than eliminating it. More importantly, remaining industries were required to adopt cleaner production methods and install pollution control equipment. The government also implemented emergency measures during periods of particularly bad air quality. Construction sites could be shut down, and factories temporarily closed when pollution forecasts indicated hazardous conditions.

The Results: A Remarkable Turnaround

The transformation of Beijing's air quality has been nothing short of remarkable. From 2013 to 2022, the annual average concentrations of major air pollutants decreased significantly: PM2.5 decreased 66.5 percent; SO2 decreased 88.7 percent; NO2 decreased 58.9 percent; and PM10 decreased 50 percent. In concrete terms, in the 12 months to the end of March 2025, average PM2.5 concentrations had fallen to 29.1 micrograms per cubic meter, translating into a 67 percent decline since 2013. The city that once recorded AQI readings of 993 now regularly experiences days with readings below 50, classified as good air quality. The number of days with good air quality reached 290 in 2024, an increase of 114 days compared with 2013 and the highest number on record. This means that residents now breathe clean air on more than three-quarters of the year's days—a dramatic shift from the situation just a decade ago.

Conclusion: From Worst to World-Class

Beijing's journey from the Airpocalypse of 2013 to one of the most improved major cities in terms of air quality stands as one of the most significant environmental success stories of the 21st century. The transformation required confronting powerful economic interests, investing billions of dollars, implementing hundreds of policies, and fundamentally changing how millions of people heat their homes, travel to work, and power their industries. The success wasn't inevitable. It required sustained political commitment, public pressure, scientific expertise, regional cooperation, and willingness to prioritize long-term environmental health over short-term economic convenience. Beijing's experience demonstrates that even the most severe air pollution problems can be addressed when governments act decisively and comprehensively. While challenges remain and the work is far from complete, Beijing has proved that transformation is possible. The city that once symbolized the environmental costs of rapid development has become a model for how determined action can restore breathable air.

Argentine football icons to walk ramp and auction 2022 World Cup memorabilia

MUMBAI

Lionel Messi will reunite with longtime strike partner Luis Suarez and teammate Rodrigo De Paul in Mumbai on December 14 for a 45-minute philanthropic fashion segment during his 'G.O.A.T. India Tour 2025'. Organisers have requested Messi to bring select memorabilia from Argentina's 2022 World Cup triumph for auction, aiming to raise funds for charity.

The Mumbai event, hosted at Wankhede Stadium from 5pm, will feature celebrity models, Bollywood stars including Tiger Shroff and Jackie Shroff, cricketers, and business leaders. A Padel Cup at the Cricket Club of India at 3.30pm will precede the fashion show. Suarez will also perform in a Spanish music segment.

Messi's India tour spans multiple cities. In Kolkata, security concerns have shifted the unveiling of his 70-foot statue to a virtual ceremony from his hotel. A 25ft x 20ft mural will also be unveiled during the Durga Puja season, allowing fans to leave personal messages. The Kolkata leg is expected to draw over 70,000 spectators.

Hyderabad will host the GOAT Cup at Rajiv Gandhi International Stadium, featuring a 7v7 celebrity match, penalty shootouts, a masterclass for scouted youth, and a musical concert. This marks Messi's first India visit since 2011. Organisers confirmed that the tour received final approval in August after meetings with Messi and his father, Jorge, who is also his agent. The India tour combines football, culture, and philanthropy, promising fans a unique experience while supporting charitable causes.

Bruno Fernandes Stars as Manchester United Thrash Wolves 4-1

WOLVERHAMPTON

Two-goal Fernandes inspires dominant United win, moving them into top six

Bruno Fernandes scored twice and set up another as Manchester United cruised to a 4-1 victory over Wolverhampton Wanderers in a Premier League clash on Monday, lifting United into the top six.

Fernandes opened the scoring in the first half after a Wolves error from Brazilian midfielder Andre, rifling the ball past goalkeeper Sam Johnstone despite losing his footing. Wolves briefly equalized just before halftime when Jean-Ricner Bellegarde converted a volley from David Moller Wolfe's cross, marking Wolves' first league goal since October 26.

United regained control early in the second half, with Bryan Mbeumo finishing a swift counter-attack in the 51st minute. Mason Mount then added a third in the 62nd minute, expertly converting a chipped assist from Fernandes. The match was sealed when Fernandes scored a penalty in the 82nd minute to complete his double and the team's fourth goal. The win moves United to 25 points, level with Chelsea in fifth, while Wolves remain at the bottom with just two points, suffering their eighth consecutive defeat. Wolves coach Rob Edwards admitted frustration: "There's a nervousness… in big moments we gave the ball back to them. We're getting punished and must improve, but it won't be a quick turnaround."

United's second-half performance showcased a more ruthless attacking approach after a sluggish first half. Mount reflected, "The onus was on us to put things right with a proper performance. All our focus was on being ruthless, going forward with purpose, and taking our chances. It's good to push up and get the three points, but we can't stop now."

The victory highlighted Fernandes' influence and United's ability to dominate even amid a season of inconsistency, while Wolves continue to struggle at the bottom of the table.

Yves Bissouma Faces Spurs Probe Again Over Nitrous Oxide Incident

LONDON

Tottenham Hotspur midfielder Yves Bissouma is once again under scrutiny after footage emerged showing him inhaling nitrous oxide at a London party, prompting the club to launch a formal internal investigation. The 29-year-old Malian's latest indiscretion comes nearly a year after a similar incident that led to a one-match suspension for "severe lack of judgment."

The clip, reportedly filmed in the early hours of November 3, was shared by a woman who attended the party. She allegedly said, "I couldn't believe what I was seeing. Bissouma was openly inhaling from the balloon even though he had been in trouble before for doing this."

Adding to concerns, Bissouma has removed all mentions of Tottenham from his Instagram profile, raising alarm among fans already uneasy about his inconsistent tenure at the club. Under UK law, nitrous oxide has been classified as a Class C drug since 2023, making recreational possession illegal. This latest controversy comes on the back of a disrupted season for Bissouma, who was previously dropped for repeated lateness in August and missed further matches due to ankle surgery in October.

Squash Confident as WSF Pushes 2032 Olympic Bid

CHENNAI

World Squash Federation (WSF) president Zena Wooldridge has confirmed that the process to include squash in the 2032 Brisbane Olympics is already underway, building on the sport's historic inclusion in the 2028 Los Angeles Games. Speaking during the Squash World Cup opening ceremony, Wooldridge expressed confidence that squash's flexibility and low logistical footprint strengthen its case for Olympic continuity.

"We've already started the process for Brisbane 2032," Wooldridge said, noting that a decision is expected by mid-2026. She highlighted that while Los Angeles offered ideal facilities, Brisbane presents unique challenges, making adaptability crucial. The WSF plans to showcase squash's versatility, from singles to doubles and glass courts, to fit host constraints.

Wooldridge emphasized India's role in the sport's growth. "India is a major squash nation, influential as hosts, players, and referees. Their participation ensures broadcast coverage and supports milestones like the 2030 Ahmedabad Commonwealth Games, which will boost India's Olympic ambitions."

Reflecting on her five-year tenure, Wooldridge credited collaborative efforts with PSA, US Squash, and Squash Australia for strengthening governance and modernizing championships. She also outlined expansion plans in Africa, leveraging Olympic solidarity funding to develop players, coaches, and referees, with a focus on training more female coaches and players.

On engaging with the newly elected IOC president Kirsty Coventry, Wooldridge noted, "We hope to meet in the first quarter of next year. With her reviewing existing sports and disciplines, it may become easier for squash to secure its place." Wooldridge concluded that squash's combination of global growth, governance improvements, and flexible competition formats positions it strongly to remain an Olympic sport beyond 2028, as the WSF works steadily to secure Brisbane inclusion.

Isack Hadjar Kicks Off Red Bull Career with First 2026 Test Laps

ABU DHABI

Isack Hadjar officially began his Red Bull Racing career on Tuesday, taking part in post-season testing in Abu Dhabi. The 21-year-old Frenchman, promoted from Red Bull's junior program after a breakout rookie F1 season, took the RB mule car equipped with 2026-spec adaptations for its first spin. Pirelli used the outing to gather early data for next year's tyres. Though Hadjar has previously appeared in three FP1 sessions during the 2023 and 2024 seasons, this marked his first full outing as a senior Red Bull driver. His rookie year included consistent performances, highlighted by a maiden podium finish at the Dutch Grand Prix alongside future teammate Max Verstappen. That result, coupled with his overall promise, cemented his place as a natural choice for the 2026 lineup following Yuki Tsunoda's struggles.

Liverpool coach Arne Slot says his bond with Mohamed Salah is not broken

Liverpool Boss Slot Insists Relationship with Salah Remains Intact

MILAN

Liverpool manager Arne Slot has dismissed suggestions that his relationship with star forward Mohamed Salah has collapsed, following the Egypt international's absence from the squad for the Champions League trip to Inter Milan.

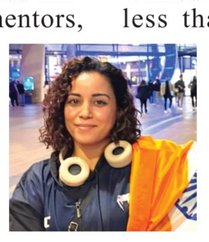
"That's not the way I feel, but he has the right to feel how he feels," Slot told supporters. "I haven't felt that at all." Salah had trained with the first team earlier but was left out of the Italy trip after publicly stating he felt "thrown under the bus" and claimed his relationship with Slot was over.

The comments came after Salah was benched for the third consecutive Premier League match in a 3-3 draw against Leeds United. Asked if Salah had played his last game for Liverpool, Slot said, "I have no clue. I cannot answer that question at this moment in time." He added that while Salah can feel however he wishes, he does not have the right to broadcast grievances to the media. Liverpool are enduring a difficult season, sitting ninth in the Premier League with just four wins in 15 matches. In Europe, the Reds are 13th in their Champions League group after a 4-1 defeat at home to PSV Eindhoven. Salah, Liverpool's all-time leading paid player, has scored four goals in 13 league games this season, a stark drop from his usual prolific form.

Despite the turbulence, Slot emphasized the professional nature of his bond with Salah, who has been instrumental in Liverpool's two Premier League titles and a Champions League triumph since joining from Roma in 2017. The coach's remarks suggest he remains committed to managing the situation carefully amid ongoing speculation about Salah's future at Anfield.

Pooja Tomar Aims to Guide India's Next Fighters with MMA Academy

NEW DELHI



Pooja Tomar, the first Indian woman to win a UFC fight, is turning her focus from personal milestones to shaping the next generation of fighters. Growing up in Budhana, Uttar Pradesh, she faced limited resources, no mentors, and no training structure, navigating her path into MMA largely alone.

"My only goal right now is to open my own academy so the coming generation gets proper opportunities," Tomar told. "We didn't know anything when we started. I can now guide many people so they can achieve things faster." Her journey, spanning wushu, regional MMA promotions, ONE Championship, and Matrix Fight Night, culminated in her UFC debut in 2023 and a historic win in June 2024. This achievement highlighted both her resilience and the gaps in India's MMA ecosystem, which she is determined to address.

Tomar plans her academy to offer structured training, nutrition guidance, mental conditioning, and international-standard coaching. Her vision is to create a clear pathway for young fighters — particularly girls — so they no longer struggle with the uncertainties she faced.

"When I was young, the birth of a girl in my village often brought sadness," she recalls. "From that time, I wanted to prove that I am no less than any boy. That's when my interest in fighting began, and UFC became my dream."

By sharing her experience and providing proper infrastructure, Tomar hopes to ensure that talent and perseverance are enough for young athletes to reach global stages.

Mohammed Shami Signals National Comeback with Four-Wicket Blast in SMAT

NEW DELHI

India pacer Mohammed Shami sent a clear message to the national selectors with a scintillating four-wicket haul against Haryana in the Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy (SMAT) 2025–26. The Bengal fast bowler returned figures of 4/30 in four overs, helping restrict Haryana to 191/9 in their 20 overs.

This was Shami's third consecutive performance taking three or more wickets in the tournament. He had earlier claimed 4/13 against Services and 3/24 versus Puducherry. His consistent show has propelled him to the third spot among the tournament's highest wicket-takers, highlighting his sustained domestic dominance despite being overlooked by India's selectors.

Shami has amassed 16 wickets in seven matches, averaging 14.93 with an economy rate of 8.90. His best figures of 4/13 reflect a bowler in top form, both physically and technically. Yet, the 33-year-old remains sidelined, having last represented India in the Champions Trophy 2025, with his last Test outing coming during the World Test Championship final 2023, where India fell short against Australia.

Selectors had previously cited fitness concerns for his omission from the England tour. However, Shami has been active in domestic cricket, including the Duleep Trophy and Ranji Trophy, taking 20 wickets in four Ranji matches, demonstrating both fitness and form.

Despite Bengal losing their second successive match in the tournament, Shami's performances underline his readiness for international duties. His ongoing excellence in domestic cricket reinforces calls for his reintegration into India's pace attack. Shami's determination and consistent displays are hard to ignore, and he continues to push for the opportunity to return to the national team.

IPL 2026 Auction List Finalised with 350 Players

A star-studded pool of 350 players headlines the high-stakes IPL 2026 auction

MUMBAI

The Indian Premier League on Tuesday confirmed a final shortlist of 350 players, including 240 Indians and 110 overseas cricketers, for the 2026 auction scheduled in Abu Dhabi on December 16. Among the notable inclusions is South Africa's wicketkeeper-batter Quinton de Kock, a late entrant to the pool after reversing his ODI retirement. He will enter the auction at a base price of ₹1 crore.

The initial registration of 1,390 players was trimmed to 1,005, before being finalised at 350 competing for 77 available slots across the 10 franchises in the league's 19th edition.

Australia's former captain Steve Smith, returning to the IPL fold after last appearing in 2021, is listed with a ₹2 crore base price. The first set of auction names also includes Mumbai batters Prithvi Shaw and Sarfaraz Khan, each placed at a ₹75 lakh base price.

Several high-profile overseas stars feature in the top bracket at ₹2 crore, including Australia's Cameron Green and Jake Fraser-McGurk, New Zealand's Devon Conway, and South Africa's David Miller. India all-rounder Venkatesh Iyer, released by Kolkata Knight Riders (KKR), has also set his base price at ₹2 crore.

Among the franchises, KKR enter the auction with the largest purse of ₹64.3 crore, giving them significant room for rebuilding. Chennai Super Kings follow with ₹43.4 crore, while Sunrisers Hyderabad hold the third-largest purse at ₹25.5 crore.

With a heavily stacked roster of capped and emerging talent, the 2026 auction promises fierce bidding, strategic manoeuvring, and potential blockbuster signings as teams aim to reshape their squads for another thrilling IPL season.

IPL 2026 Auction: Sarfaraz Khan, Prithvi Shaw Named in Opening Set

MUMBAI

The build-up to the IPL 2026 Player Auction, scheduled for December 16 in Abu Dhabi, gathered momentum on Tuesday with Sarfaraz Khan and Prithvi Shaw featuring prominently in the opening set of players released by the league. The pair, who went unsold in last year's mega auction, headline the capped batters' group this time with a base price of ₹75 lakh each.

Sarfaraz, despite an encouraging start to his Test career, did not attract any bids in the previous auction. Shaw, dropped by Mumbai midway through the last domestic season, revived his fortunes after moving to Maharashtra, where consistency and improved fitness helped restore his reputation. Their inclusion in the first set signals renewed interest ahead of a highly competitive auction.

They are grouped alongside top overseas names such as Devon Conway, Jake Fraser-McGurk, Cameron Green, and David Miller, each listed at the ₹2 crore base price. Notably, Green—usually classified as an all-rounder—has been listed only as a batter this year. The IPL authorities released the final list of 350 players on Tuesday morning, comprising 240 Indians and 110 overseas cricketers, from whom a maximum of 77 signings can be made. The auction pool features 40 players in the highest base price bracket of ₹2 crore, while 227 uncapped domestic players have set their base price at ₹30 lakh, the lowest available tier.

Sarfaraz, after a promising start to his Test career, failed to draw bids in the previous auction

The second set of players includes Venkatesh Iyer (₹2 crore), the high-profile all-rounder released by Kolkata Knight Riders, along with Deepak Hooda (₹75 lakh) and five prominent overseas all-rounders. With major names, intriguing comeback stories and limited slots, the 2026 auction promises intense bidding wars and strategic gambles from all ten franchises.

Tiger Woods Sparks Career-Change Buzz with Cameo

NASSAU

A surprise stint behind the microphone by Tiger Woods at the Hero World Challenge has ignited speculation that the 15-time major champion may be eyeing a new path in sports broadcasting. Woods, 49, who has spent much of the past decade battling injuries in his effort to stay competitive, stunned viewers when he joined the Golf Channel commentary booth for an impromptu segment with fellow professional Kevin Kisner.

The cameo, filled with jokes and easy banter, showcased a relaxed and humorous side of Woods rarely seen during his peak playing years. Clips of the exchange quickly went viral, with fans calling him "comedy gold" and praising his potential as an "awesome broadcaster." The moment has prompted widespread speculation about whether Woods is quietly preparing for a media career once his playing days wind down.

THERE IS NO OTHER PLAYER LIKE HARDIK PANDYA IN INDIAN T20 TEAM: BANGAR

NEW DELHI

Former India batting coach Sanjay Bangar has lauded Hardik Pandya as a once-in-a-generation all-rounder, insisting that no player in India's current T20 setup matches his dual-impact presence. Pandya, recovering from a quadricep injury suffered during the Asia Cup, is set to return for the five-match ODI series against South Africa beginning Tuesday in Cuttack.

Bangar stressed that Pandya's skill set places him in a category of his own. Comparing him with global all-rounders like Ben Stokes and drawing parallels with Ravindra Jadeja's irreplaceability in longer formats, Bangar said Pandya could command a place either as a pure batter or a frontline seamer. "To be that kind of all-rounder, you must earn your place with both bat and ball. There is no other player like Hardik Pandya in the Indian team," he said.

On workload management, Bangar suggested Pandya should feature in at least the first three matches against South Africa to assess his physical readiness. He cautioned against drawing conclusions about playing six or seven T20Is before the World Cup, noting the gap in intensity between domestic tournaments like the Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy (SMAT) and international cricket. A fully fit Pandya, he added, provides India with their ideal team balance, particularly with the available spin options.

Before his India return, Pandya struck an unbeaten 77 off 42 balls for Baroda in SMAT and bowled four overs at full throttle. India skipper Shubman Gill also returns after a neck spasm. Bangar believes Gill's growth as Test captain has strengthened his mindset across formats, making him a solid T20I top-order option.

Hazlewood Ruled Out of Ashes; Cummins Set for Australia Return

BRISBANE

Australia's Ashes campaign suffered a significant setback on Tuesday with pace bowler Josh Hazlewood officially ruled out of the remainder of the five-match series due to hamstring and Achilles injuries. Hazlewood, who missed Australia's commanding eight-wicket wins in Perth and Brisbane, had initially been expected to return later in the contest.

Coach Andrew McDonald confirmed that the veteran seamer will now shift focus to regaining fitness ahead of the Twenty20 World Cup early next year. "He'll be out of the series and his preparation will shift toward the World Cup, which is an incredibly important campaign for us," McDonald said, calling the development "really flat" for the team after unexpected setbacks hampered Hazlewood's recovery. A pillar of Australia's attack for nearly a decade, his absence leaves a sizeable void.

In more encouraging news for Australia, skipper Pat Cummins is set to return for the third Test in Adelaide starting December 17. Cummins, who missed the first two Tests while recovering from a back problem, has steadily increased his training workload at Allan Border Field during the second Test. According to McDonald, Cummins appears physically and technically prepared, with selectors expected to reinstate him as captain when the squad is announced on Wednesday. Vice-captain Steve Smith has been leading the side in his absence.

India regroup after semifinal loss, eyeing podium finish today

Heartbroken India Target Bronze as Junior WC Campaign Nears End

CHENNAI

The dream of reclaiming the FIH Men's Junior World Cup may have slipped away, but hosts India will aim to salvage pride and secure a podium finish when they face Argentina in the bronze medal match today. India, champions last in 2016 in Lucknow, suffered a heavy 1–5 defeat to seven-time winners Germany in the semifinals, leaving the young side heartbroken and determined to make amends at home. Argentina, two-time champions in 2005 and 2021, were edged out 1–2 by Spain in a closely contested semifinal and arrive with their own sense of urgency. Known for their physicality and disciplined structure, the South American side is expected to test India across all departments.

India's semifinal performance raised concerns, with the team visibly wilting under pressure. Defensive lapses, mispasses, and soft goals proved costly, while the forwards—who excelled in the pool stages—struggled to convert opportunities. Players such as Dilraj Singh, Arshdeep Singh, Sourabh Anand Kushwaha, Gurjot Singh, and Ajeet Yadav created chances but failed to break Germany's resistance.

Head coach P.R. Sreejesh admitted the team fell short tactically, saying the inability to execute plans and conceding easy goals hurt their title hopes. He stressed the need for collective responsibility: solid defending first, followed by efficient attacking play.

Skipper Rohit leads a defence that must dramatically improve to contain Argentina's forwards. The midfield—featuring Rosan Khujur, Ankit Pal, Manmeet Singh, Adrohit Ekka, and Thounaojam Ingalemba Luwang—will need greater cohesion to feed the attack effectively.

Penalty corners remain India's persistent weakness. Despite Anmol Ekka scoring from a set piece against Germany, the usually reliable Rohit has struggled to make an impact with drag-flicks this tournament.

'We Don't Want to Change a Lot Now,' Says Suryakumar Yadav

CUTTACK

India captain Suryakumar Yadav has emphasised that the team will resist major changes to its core structure as preparations intensify for the 2026 ICC Men's T20 World Cup, to be played at home in two months. Speaking ahead of the limited-overs assignments against South Africa and New Zealand, Suryakumar said the focus is now firmly on sharpening existing plans rather than altering combinations.

He explained that India's World Cup groundwork began immediately after the conclusion of the 2024 edition. "When we give exams in school, not everyone studies in the last four days. We study for a year or two. Our preparation is the same," he said. "We don't want to change a lot now. The only thing we'll work on is the type of cricket we want to play."

India will play 10 T20Is before the World Cup, offering valuable opportunities for refinement. Asked about the ongoing debate regarding Sanju Samson and Jitesh Sharma for a place in the XI, Suryakumar said the team values versatility. "We gave Sanju opportunities and he was ready to bat anywhere. Both are in the scheme of things. It's always good to have players who can open or bat lower. It's a good headache to have."

He also welcomed Hardik Pandya's return to full fitness, highlighting the balance the all-rounder brings. "As you saw in the Asia Cup, when he bowled with the new ball, it opened many options for us. His experience will count a lot."

With tosses proving decisive in the ongoing ODI series, Suryakumar joked that he might follow K.L. Rahul's superstition and try using his left hand at the toss, adding a light-hearted note to India's otherwise focused preparations.

Praggnanandhaa Readies for 2026 Candidates, Cites 'Extremely Strong' Field

NEW DELHI

Indian Grandmaster R Praggnanandhaa has secured his place in the 2026 Candidates Tournament, becoming the sole Indian representative in next year's men's event. He earned the berth after a stellar performance at the London Chess Classic, finishing joint-first with Velimir Ivic and Ameet K Ghasi before settling in third after tie-breaks. The victory also saw him top the FIDE Circuit 2025 with 115.17 points, comfortably ahead of Dutch GM Anish Giri, who has already qualified for the Candidates.

Praggnanandhaa acknowledged the challenging nature of the tournament. "Any Candidates will be a tough tournament. If someone is there, that means they've shown what it takes. It will be difficult for everyone," he said. He described the upcoming line-up as "extremely strong," noting that the rating levels are similar to last year, with virtually no player who could be considered an easy target.

The 20-year-old GM also reflected on preparation constraints. "Assuming I make it, there will be a short time to prepare. Not long time to prepare like camps or something. I'll just try to rest and see how to prepare," he explained.

Praggnanandhaa enters the Candidates on the back of a highly successful year. He won the Tata Chess Masters, defeating fellow Indian GM D Gukesh in a tie-breaker, clinched the Grand Chess Tour Superbet Chess Classic Romania, and took the 2nd UzChess Cup 2025 in blitz tiebreaks. Despite a disappointing campaign at this year's World Cup, he remains India's only male representative in the Candidates.

Meanwhile, Indian women's grandmasters Divya Deshmukh, Koneru Humpy, and R Vaishali will compete at the Women's Candidates, continuing India's strong presence in international chess. Praggnanandhaa now shifts focus to rest and strategic preparation, aware that the 2026 Candidates will test even the world's elite players.
